The Old School Main Street

Chelmorton, Buxton, SK17 9SL

Welcome to The Old School, where history isn't simply preserved, but thoughtfully reimagined. Here, expressive interiors sit comfortably alongside original character, while contemporary living has been woven effortlessly into a building that has stood at the heart of Chelmorton for more than 150 years.

Originally built in 1872, The Old School educated generations of village children before beginning its second life as one of the Peak District's most distinctive homes. Today, it remains a familiar landmark within Chelmorton's conservation area; a building with a story, ready for its next custodians.

Together, the main house and detached outbuilding offer an impressive 2,368 sq ft of beautifully considered accommodation, combining a three-bedroom family home with a versatile annex, home office and garage.

The Old School is more than a period home. It's an opportunity to become part of Chelmorton's story, living within a building that has quietly shaped village life for generations, while creating a chapter entirely your own.
