ORIGINALLY OCCUPIED
BY W. ANSELL, THIS ICONIC BUILDING
WAS USED AS A 'JOB
MASTER' UP UNTIL
THE EARLY 1900'S—
A LIVERY STABLE
WHICH RENTED
OUT HORSES
AND CARRIAGES TO VARIOUS OPERATORS.

CELEBRATING A PIECE OF HISTORY

After the site was sold by W. Ansell, its original owner, the family who owned the adjoining houses, Malvernia and Forest Villas, also took ownership of the Job Master building. It was eventually sold in the 1980s to the Brown Brothers who ran the site as an MOT garage. Before they retired, the brothers applied for the demolition of the garage in order to build two new houses. But there was a great deal of objection to this idea from local residents, who wanted to maintain the integrity and history of the building.

When we at IPE Developments acquired the site, we wanted to make sure that the historic character of the building was retained during our re-imagining of the building. We worked hard alongside local architect Erich Wessels and local engineer Thierry Suc, reversing and transforming the Brown Brothers' plans, to create a new lease of life for this slice of local history. Our endeavours were rewarded by numerous supporting letters from local residents, and as we fast-forward to the present day, and the completed development, everyone involved in the site's transformation is very proud of what has been achieved.

CHIC INTERIORS

We've used a palette of materials and finishes which fits hand in glove with the fabric of the original building. The interior sense of style and calm compliments the solidity of the original surrounding walls.

A MODERN TWIST

We're delighted to be able to offer these wonderful new spaces, carved out of the historic footprint of the original Job Master livery stable, giving you the opportunity to write your very own chapter in the history of this local landmark.

JOINT AGENT

Established in 1908, Petty Son & Prestwich has been helping people achieve their property dreams for well over 100 years. Our conscientious and courteous team prides itself on both its professionalism and the personal touch it offers all of our clients. Our company began life in Leytonstone when locally renowned builder, C Petty, founded the firm in 1908. Run by his son, Charles, a chartered surveyor, the then named Petty and Son earned itself a glowing reputation within the local area, and it quickly grew into a flourishing business.

It was in 1912 that Petty Son and Prestwich opened its Wanstead office, and we've been part of the fabric of this beautiful East London town ever since. Current directors, John and Jenny Wagstaff, took over Pettys during its centenary year, 2008. From then on, Petty Son and Prestwich has gone from strength to strength, and 2014 saw our company move into new territory with the opening of the Buckhurst Hill branch in West Essex. This expansion hasn't affected our commitment to offering a personal service to all of our clients, whether they come to us for sales, lettings, surveys, property management, financial services, or refurbishment and development. In fact, it has cemented our belief that operating with traditional values such as reliability, trustworthiness, and honesty is the formula for continued success.

We have helped thousands of local people realise their property dreams over the years, and we look forward to helping you achieve yours. Come in and say hello!
