Location

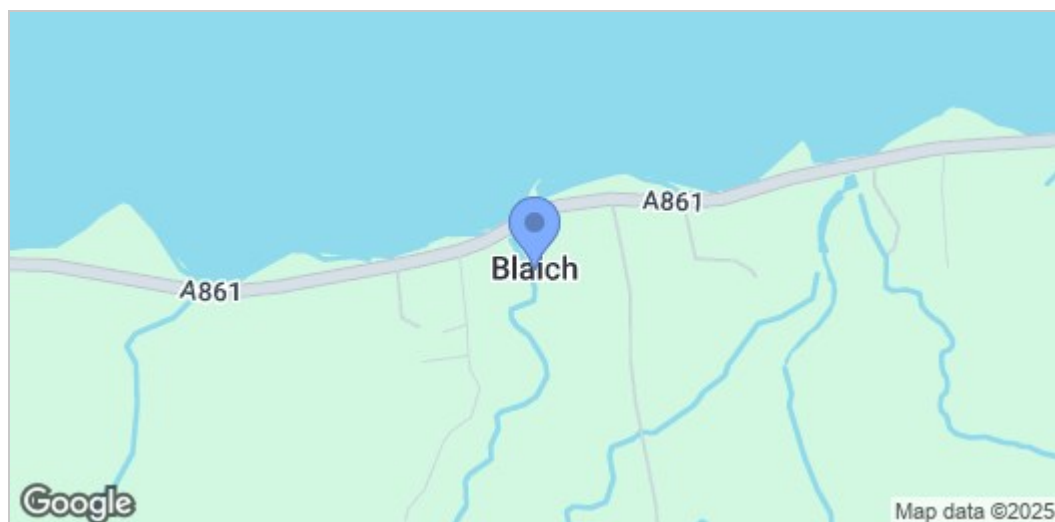

Blaich is a quiet hamlet which is renowned for it's beautiful scenery, within 19 miles of Fort William. Closer to Blaich is the village of Corpach which has amenities such as a small supermarket, post office and hotel. Fort William is known as 'The Outdoor Capital of the UK' and offers a huge variety of tourist attractions including Ben Nevis, Glen Nevis, Aonach Mor Ski Centre and the West Highland Way. There is a wide choice of shops, hotels, restaurants, a bus station and railway station providing links to Mallaig, Glasgow, Edinburgh and London.

Directions

Travelling from Fort William take the A830 Mallaig road through Corpach, then continue for approx 5 miles. At the end of Lochiel take the junction to the left toward Strontian. Continue on the single track road for 8 miles to the east side of Blaich. Continue for 1 more mile and the entrance to the plot is located on the right hand side just past a small road bridge, marked with the For Sale sign.

Miscellaneous Notes

Any effluent system will require to be private. The purchaser will require, at their own cost, to bring a section of the access road to the plot in accordance with the standards required by the Local Authority. The re-application for planning permission will be at the purchasers expense. Tenure - Freehold
