THE PROPERTY

A substantial period stone built house situated in a peaceful tucked away position with Portesham village, within easy access to the Jurassic coast. Dating back over several hundred years and listed Grade II of architectural and historic importance, the property offers a host of character features including inglenook fireplaces, stone mullion windows and exposed beamed ceilings. Set in beautiful west facing gardens with off road parking and a modern built garage.

ACCOMMODATION

Front door leads into a lobby with quarry tiled flooring and door into a double aspect kitchen/breakfast room fitted with a range of pine fronted cupboards, oil-fired AGA and freestanding cooker. There is a useful pantry and access to a rear lobby, utility room and storeroom. The sitting room is an impressive and spacious feature of the house with exposed beamed ceilings and two stone inglenook fireplaces at either end of the room with an open fireplace and woodburning stove. An abundance of light comes from a double aspect with stone front mullion windows and a pair of French doors opening onto a west facing rear garden. A door to the side of one of the fireplaces leads into a modern two-storey extension offering flexibility for potential annexe with a separate front door, lounge and garden room and access to the first floor rooms.

On the first floor, the main bedroom forms part of the modern extension and is extremely spacious with a double aspect and French doors enjoying delightful south facing views. There is a spacious en-suite bathroom/shower room with modern white suite of panelled bath and a separate shower cubicle. From the landing are a further four double bedrooms together with a family bathroom.

OUTSIDE

Gated side access leads onto gravelled hardstanding with off road parking and doors to an attached garage with personal rear door, power and light. The gardens are a delightful feature, extending to around 0.34 acres and enjoying a private west facing aspect. A paved and gravelled sun terrace leads up to large expanses of lawned gardens stocked with an abundance of shrubs, plants and trees including a variety of fruit trees. To the south side, beech hedging leads through to a large vegetable garden, bounded on two sides by dry stone walls with timber store. Attached to the rear of the house is a useful lean to store.
