THE LOCATION

Mulberry Court is set right in the heart of the historic market town of Royston, immediately to the west of the town centre and less than half-a-mile from the mainline railway station. Royston is on the London Kings Cross to Cambridge mainline, with the fastest service to Kings Cross taking just 38 minutes and to Cambridge 15 minutes. For road users Royston stands on the junction of the A10 and A505 giving easy access to the A1(M) and M11.

Royston is a busy market town that lies in the north-east corner of Hertfordshire on the border with Cambridgeshire. The town takes its name from a wayside cross erected by Lady Roysia in around 1066. Royston grew up at the intersection of two ancient thoroughfares: Ermine Street and Icknield Way. Ermine Street was constructed by the Romans, but the prehistoric Icknield Way, said to be the oldest road in Britain, was ancient even before the Romans invaded. Today, the town provides a wide range of amenities including shops, schools and leisure facilities.
