THE PROPERTY

This period house of charm and character forms part of an historic Grade II listed Farmhouse erected circa 1678 ( We understand the rear extension was built circa 1830 ) and originally part of the Hurle Estate. In circa 1850 this townhouse was re-named Nursery Villa when it was a flourishing nursery owned by one of the founders of Bristol Zoo - its grounds were actually used to accommodate exotic animals prior to completion of accommodation at the famous Bristol Zoological gardens! During World War II it was believed to have been used by the American military while they were planning D-Day landings at nearby Clifton College.
The bright and airy property has flexible accommodation ( 1702 Sq Ft ) arranged over 3 floors with south facing reception rooms, four bedrooms and two bathrooms plus allocated parking space and a front and rear garden. We are also informed there is a cellar.
Sold with vacant possession.
