The Property

Tucked away in an exclusive close of just five homes, Paddock House is a spacious and well-maintained detached property offering a unique balance of village charm and practical convenience. Built in 1982, the home sits in a peaceful setting with front and rear gardens regularly visited by local wildlife, including deer and hens.

The accommodation includes an entrance hall, cloakroom/WC, a comfortable sitting room, separate dining room, kitchen, principal bedroom with en-suite, three further bedrooms, and a family bathroom. Outside, the property features a double garage, a generous driveway providing ample parking, and attractive gardens to both the front and rear.

Perfectly positioned just a minute's walk from Steventon's historic medieval causeway, village green, and open countryside, the home also offers excellent connectivity. Bus routes to Didcot, Abingdon, Oxford, and Wantage are just a short walk away, and the A34 is easily accessible by car.

Planning drawings from 1986 suggest exciting potential for future extension, including options to reconfigure the kitchen/dining space, build to the side, or convert the garage—highlighting the flexibility and long-term appeal of this well-located family home.
