LOCATION

Rickling is a picturesque and very popular hamlet adjoining the village of Quendon. There is an excellent primary school, inn / restaurant, one of the oldest cricket pitches in the country and a parish church. The cottage is located on the outskirts of the village, set in a tucked-away position next to the Church and surrounded by open farmland. The fine old market town of Saffron Walden is approximately six miles to the north, with Bishop's Stortford 7 miles to the south and only 2 miles from Newport where there are good facilities including a main line station, Newport Free Grammar School, shops and public houses. There is fast access to Junctions 8 and 9 of the M11.
