"We moved here just after our eldest son turned one and it has been such a lovely house to bring up our family. We've since had twins and the space has worked so well for us all, especially with the garden, which is safe and contained. The studio in the garden has provided a real haven of peace and an additional creative space for me, which I will miss greatly. Our neighbours are absolutely wonderful and have been the icing on the cake of living here. It's a real wrench to move, but a new job calls us to the countryside."
