Living on Nursery Road in Bedminster was such a positive experience for me. It's a street full of character, where the sense of community is truly felt. I loved being just a short walk from North Street, with all its fantastic independent shops, cafes, and restaurants—there's always something to discover. The local parks and green spaces were perfect for unwinding, and having everything so close by made life really convenient and the city centre being a short walk or bus ride away was such an added bonus! The neighborhood is peaceful, yet well-connected, with easy access to the city. It's been an ideal spot, offering a great balance between the buzz of urban living and a warm, welcoming community."
