"How incredible it's been to live in a city, yet open our curtains to see trees, to open the front door and let our dog walk straight into green space. Here feels like the heart of the community; blissfully free of traffic, but full of conversation and life. We've made so many friendships with neighbours, sharing toys and tools, litter picks and street parties. We'll miss sitting on the deck in the evening sun, and hope this house and its garden gives others as much happiness."
