"This flat has always felt like it wants to be its own little house, with the space split over two levels and a separate kitchen, so the door can be closed on any chaos after cooking. The flat itself and the street are so quiet that you wouldn't now its just off North street, which turns out to have been such a brilliant location to pick when I relocated to Bristol. The area has everything you need and its also an easy and safe walk to get to the centre of Bristol."
