AGENTS NOTE: Please note that the bungalow has a long standing building defect - and the owners have taken account of this in the asking price. An assessment conducted by the surveyor during two visits to Coppice Lea yielded the following observations:

"From the corner of the porch extending to the end of the garage, there is a noticeable decline. Approximately halfway up the brick course, a measurement of -180mm was recorded, indicating a significant drop without corresponding signs of cracking in the brickwork, which is unusual.

There is no linear crack observed at the junction point where the porch connects to the rest of the property.

Based on these findings, it appears that the property was not constructed on a level foundation originally, and there are no indications of ongoing subsidence. The base slab appears to be in good condition, as evidenced by the condition of the garage floor"

Any prospective purchaser/lender is encouraged to explore the nature of the defect for peace of mind.
