Glent House, Wakefield Road

Heyrod, Stalybridge

Welcome to Glent House, an imposing detached period property built around 1836 in a secluded location. This home with acres of space to grow, is a much-loved family home which the current family are regrettably leaving, giving a new family a wonderful opportunity.

Come inside through the impressive front door into a practical porch area, stacks of room for coats, boots and dog leads. The details of the stained-glass windows are beautiful and lead into the grand hallway with sweeping staircase.

To the right is your first reception room, the formal lounge. This grand space sets the tone for this elegant home. With huge windows surrounded by wooden shutter style casements, the views over the valley and beyond are stunning.

There is enough room for any combination of sofas, this is the most welcoming room to gather all your family and friends in. High ceilings showcase the original plasterwork coving which has been lovingly preserved and the dual fuel log burner lends a cosy feel.

Next door is the dining room with generous proportions that allow for a large family table.

A gas fire keeps this room nice and cosy in the winter and large windows show the stunning views.

Through large double doors you have access from the kitchen allowing this whole area to be open plan if required.

The solid oak kitchen is in keeping with a property of this size and stature. Lots of storage and worktop space with a further hidden utility room.

Across the corridor is a beautiful family bathroom, with a walk-in shower and jacuzzi bath it is a fabulous space to relax in after a long day.

Downstairs the large cellar has been used as an entertaining space. It is ready to be converted if you wished, for all year-round use.

Back into the hallway and up to sweeping staircase. You have a large landing which leads to four bedrooms, three of the bedrooms are large doubles and the third is a smaller room but will still accommodate a double bed.

The family bathroom is a good size and has stunning roll top bath with a wc tucked around the corner behind a curved wall, this house has unusual and surprising features!

The first double bedroom has space for a king-sized bed, two sets of wardrobes and beautiful windows with the same statement windows as downstairs.

Next door is the principal bedroom; with original fireplace and stunning is an oasis that would be difficult to leave. The third double bedroom has copious amounts of space for a double bed and has built in storage in keeping with the style of the house. The final bedroom is currently being used as a dressing room but would make a nice office space if needed.

Upstairs is a huge attic space with wooden flooring and lots of room for all of your storage items.
