No chain, rare opportunity, bursting with potential, within one of the most sought-after addresses in Nottinghamshire.

This stone built, two bedroom terraced cottage, boasts many character features plus ample opportunity for modernisation and to put your own stamp on this historic home.

Gloriously nestled in the sprawling wooded acres of Newstead Abbey Park, an exclusive location. Most famously known as the former home of the great 18th century romantic poet Lord Byron. This property is positioned beautifully within the former stables courtyard alongside the lake, opposite the 12th century monastic Abbey.

There is space to park in the courtyard at the front the property. Upon entry, you'll be greeted by the current dining room, featuring a lovely cast iron open fireplace. With windows to both elevations, including an original arch window to the front.

The living room features high ceilings and wooden beams, complemented by another original arch window as well as the main window looking out to the courtyard. This wonderful room presents a cozy setting, ideal for entertaining or catching up with friends and family.

The kitchen is fitted with a range of attractive cabinets and units, as well as a solid wood work surface and Belfast ceramic sink. The kitchen features exposed stone of the original wall. A door provides convenient access to the south-facing garden terrace.

The private garden features two brick built outbuildings, a raised patio and is easy to maintain.

Newstead Abbey park is accessible to residents all year round, providing lots of space for outdoor relaxation, without the upkeep of a large garden.

The first floor consists of two double bedrooms and a large family bathroom. This home previously had planning permission for an airy kitchen extension on the south side of the house, which would allow a flood of natural light and space. A loft conversion, benefitting from a unique gable end window beaming a wealth of natural light into the space.
