SITUATION

The land lies in a peaceful yet convenient position on the edge of St Columb. It sits within easy reach of a number of popular beaches and is just 4.5 miles from the popular surfers beach at Mawgan Porth. It has good access on to the A39 and the A30 and provides an excellent base with easy central access to many Cornish attractions. The Infamous harbour town of Padstow with its many eateries is 8.5 miles away and Newquay Airport and its international connections is just 5.6 miles away.

DESCRIPTION

The land currently comprises a single 3.66 acre meadow, with vehicular access over a grass strip that forms part of the property. The land is gently south facing. The meadow has been extensively managed and is currently a haven for a range of wildlife. It offers potential perhaps, for 60 Day Camping or other recreational uses (STP) whilst continuing to maintain some of the land for wild flowers, insects, birds and other wildlife. Given the proximity to numerous popular beaches nearby, the property would lend itself to those camping under the permitted development rules.

The meadow's elevated position gives it far reaching views to the south west towards the historic church of St. Columb and generally over unspoilt countryside on the opposite side of the valley. It would suit someone looking for grazing land for horses or livestock.

SERVICES

There are no mains services currently connected. An overhead electricity line crosses along the boundary of the north east field. Mobile coverage Outdoors - EE, Three, O2 and Vodafone (Ofcom - 09/05/2024). Purchasers to satisfy themselves on the availability and capacity of mains services.
