Description

This is a traditional self-contained building typical of the 18th Century which is typical of the Village High Street.

The building features a traditional timber and glass bay and half bay shop window display and a double, partially glazed front entrance door which facilitates access from the High Street. The ground floor is arranged as a large reception and front office. A further large kitchen off an entrance area and downstairs wc. Access is given from the rear of the ground floor to a partially covered courtyard style garden that can also be used for parking options.

The staircase are situated to entrance to the building and leads to the first of two floors above. The large landing forms a useful space in itself and offers access to a further kitchenette and wc to the rear. Three rooms make up the rest of this floor ranging from a good sized room to the front with a slightly smaller room with the same orientation plus a further room overlooking the rear. Centrally to this floor is a further room of double height containing a dog leg staircase leading to the second floor.

This entails the largest of rooms available with a window and one of the feature fireplaces dotted around the property and has a sash window overlooking the front. A further walkway leads out to the rear where another good sized room is offered.

Throughout the property although in need of attention the property offers great character features including beams, original floorboards and a mix of sash encasement and mid century windows.
