Outside:

Accessed off a quiet country lane, a gravelled area of parking allows off road parking for three vehicles. To the left hand side twin five bar gates allow access to the gravelled front courtyard. A lovely sunny spot capable of housing numerous additional vehicles if needed. The property is well enclosed with established Cornish granite stone walling. To the left hand side large granite steps lead up and provide access to a raised area of lawn complete with two interlinked sheds, the main has storage space for garden furniture, gardening equipment and barbecue, the smaller shed is currently used by the vendor as a wood store, this area has racking for water sports storage and wet suit drying, there are also racks for kayak/paddleboard storage to the rear of the sheds. The raised area of grass catches a good deal of sun and the current owners have a picnic table and chairs located in the far corner to make the most of this.

The finish of the stone, as previously stated rebuilt in 2009 using the beautiful original materials is stunning with hand cut Mullion windows which look delightful. The raised area of grass spans the side of the property with lower gravel area leading down to the rear lawned garden. Well enclosed with Cornish granite stone and extremely well stocked with a plethora of plants sourced from the Duchy Nursery. There is a high level wooden fence complete with mesh offering a dog friendly space. The oil fired grant boiler is sited externally and is tucked away in the rear corner in a recess of the property.

The rear grass area again enjoys a great deal of sun and benefits from an outdoor tap. Flowing around the right hand side of the property again well enclosed with low level fencing and open countryside in the distance showcasing the village of Luxulyan with open fields to the right, left and beyond. A viewing is truly essential to fully appreciate this extremely well kept and beautiful Farmhouse Cottage.
