LOCATION

Lays Auction Sale Room is located in the centre of the village of Lanner, which is a large village of 2,500 persons and lies on the A393, approximately two miles south-east of Redruth and circa 10 miles from Falmouth.

The name “Lanner” comes from the Cornish “Lannergh”, which means “a clearing”. The village is a former tin and copper mining parish which grew rapidly in the 19th century, but has been recorded as far back as 1542, and with settlement traces back to the Bronze Age.

DESCRIPTION

The auction sale room comprises a detached, early 20th Century, two-storey granite and stone construction under a pitched slate roof with many decorative features and adjacent car parking. The ground floor comprises an open trading area currently used as an auction room with storage at first floor level, and a ground floor rear kitchen, unisex wc and office facilities. The site has been installed with solar panels and two EV charging points.

As stated, the sale room was originally a Methodist Chapel and totally refurbished, rewired and replumbed throughout to be used as an auction sale room with ancillary offices. We believe the site could be of interest to residential developers, office use or any other commercial usage.

NOTE: Due to increased business from the Penzance sale room, the site is surplus to requirements. Any successful purchaser cannot use the David Lay/Lay Auctioneers Trade Name/Logo.
