LOCATION

The Chapel guest house is centrally located in mid-Cornwall in a wooded valley in the hamlet of Carthew, off the A391 north of the town of St Austell. Some of Cornwall's most favoured attractions such as the Eden Project and the Lost Gardens of Heligan are within a short drive. Nearby beaches include Carlyon Bay, Pentewan Sands, Portmellon Cove, Porthpean, Par Sands and Polkerris.

This fine guest house is also well located for the popular harbour town of Fowey and the historic harbour at Charlestown which has prominently featured in television's adaptation of Poldark.

DESCRIPTION

We understand that the Chapel guest house was originally built in the 19th Century as a Methodist Chapel which was then sympathetically converted to provide accommodation in 1995.

The property has traded as a guest house since 2008, with our clients beginning their tenure in 2021. During their period of ownership the Chapel guest house has been subject to a comprehensive refurbishment campaign and that includes majority upvc double glazing. The property also includes the modern benefit of oil-fired central heating, yet includes many character features including pointed stone elevations, some arched windows and some part-exposed roof trusses.

Briefly, the accommodation comprises a well-proportioned reception hall with access to a cloakroom wc; dining room with double doors opening onto the front and side elevations; a fitted kitchen breakfast room; utility room and private owners' accommodation including a sizeable private lounge and king sized bedroom with en-suite shower/wc.

The guest accommodation is located on the first floor and includes five quality en-suite guest bedrooms, all offered fully equipped as a trading going concern.

Outside is a generous gravelled car park for up to six vehicles with a gate providing access to a tremendous decked garden area, to the rear of which is an elevated garden area. To the front is a small stocked garden, setting the property back from the access road and to the rear, a courtyard provides access to a useful cellar and storage shed.

For further information, interested parties are welcome to view our clients' website (www.thechapelguesthouse.co.uk).

In the normal manner, further accounting information will be made available to seriously interested parties following a viewing appointment.
