STEPHENSON BROWNE

PERIOD PROPERTY & GATED DEVELOPMENT - Charles Tryon Court is a collection of Award Winning, highly desirable converted luxury family homes, each thoughtfully arranged and all nestling within the embrace of Christ Church dating back to 1789, located centrally in the picturesque Town of Alsager. Style, elegance and distinction are the hall marks of this exceptional development which has transformed the original Christ Church Schoolhouse into four stunning, exquisitely refurbished family homes alongside six newly built homes all finished to the highest specification.

2, Charles Tryon Court represents a very sensitive balance of restoration and preservation, being sympathetically converted with many unique architectural and characterful features which you will find as a theme throughout this wonderful home, couple this with modern day open-plan living areas, en-suite facilities to all three bedrooms and a downstairs cloakroom are all features the modern family expects. These considerations were included at the earliest stages of planning and design and continued throughout to influence many aspects of the work, of which was sourcing the right materials and the design and manufacture of bespoke features, some of which include: mullioned triple arched windows to the lounge and both upstairs bedrooms with reclaimed gothic archways, solid oak internal doors, flooring and staircase, French doors bedroom one, exposed architectural purlins and an abundance of other characterful features flow throughout the home. The property comes with a recently installed shaker-style kitchen, fitted robes to bedroom one and has been recently redecorated throughout.

Externally, the property benefits from a driveway which can be located either side of the property, a private rear garden and a whole host of characterful and charming features you would expect from a home of this calibre.
