Offered to the market, this charming 18th-century coach house beautifully preserves its rich history while offering exceptional modern comfort. Dating back to the 1700s, the property retains fascinating period features, including an original pigeon coop—a rare reminder of the days when carrier pigeons were used during wartime.

Presented in immaculate condition, this stunning family home seamlessly blends historic character with modern luxury. Perfectly positioned in a highly sought-after location, the property enjoys close proximity to excellent transport links, reputable schools, local amenities, scenic parks, and picturesque walking routes, making it ideal for those seeking both convenience and lifestyle.

Upon arrival, there is ample parking for residents and guests. Inside, you're greeted by two elegantly proportioned reception rooms. The first features a captivating fireplace with the original 1700s mantelpiece, exposed beams, and direct access to the beautifully landscaped garden—a perfect setting for entertaining or relaxation. The second reception room is flooded with natural light from large windows, offering delightful garden views and further access to outdoor living spaces, creating an inviting environment for family gatherings.

At the heart of the home lies a spacious open-plan kitchen, designed for modern family living and entertaining. Here, you'll also find a rare original wall-mounted well pump, a striking reminder of the property's heritage. The annex, complete with its own en-suite, offers excellent flexibility—ideal as a guest suite, home office, or independent living space.

Upstairs, the accommodation comprises three generous bedrooms. The remarkable master suite benefits from an en-suite and maisonette-style layout, ensuring privacy and comfort. Two further double bedrooms, each with their own en-suite, perfectly cater to modern family needs.

Outside, the garden is truly a highlight. With a dedicated BBQ area and, beyond the arched gate, an impressive secret walled garden, this outdoor space offers a peaceful retreat for both relaxation and entertaining.

This exceptional residence is perfectly suited for families seeking a unique blend of history, character, and space—all in a prime location. Early viewing is highly recommended.
