Park View Cottage, 7 Greaves Sike Lane, Micklebring, Rotherham, South Yorkshire. S66 7RR

Description
Positioned in the heart of the highly desirable and picturesque village of Micklebring, this outstanding stone-built detached residence is a fine example of period charm meeting contemporary refinement. Believed to date back to the 17th century, the property has been lovingly restored and thoughtfully extended over time to create a truly unique family home—full of warmth, personality, and versatile living space. Every aspect of this remarkable property reflects a commitment to quality and style, with original character details such as exposed stone walls, timber beams, and traditional fireplaces blending seamlessly with carefully selected modern finishes.

Set behind a traditional stone boundary wall, the property enjoys a strong sense of privacy and kerb appeal from the outset. A wide and deep driveway provides extensive off-road parking and leads to a large detached double garage, complete with an adjoining workshop space—ideal for car enthusiasts, hobbyists, or those needing extra practical storage. The exterior continues to impress with a pebbled forecourt, log store, and beautifully landscaped gardens that offer a welcoming entrance and set the tone for what lies within.

Upon entering, the home unfolds over four levels and offers over 2,200 square feet of versatile accommodation. The ground floor is perfectly suited for both family life and entertaining, with a welcoming entrance hall leading into a character-rich lounge featuring exposed stonework, a deep-set inglenook fireplace, and charming window seats. This room exudes a sense of history and comfort, ideal for cosy evenings or relaxed gatherings. The adjacent sitting and dining room continues the theme of rustic elegance, complete with another striking stone fireplace and a log-burning stove that forms a natural focal point. This space flows beautifully into the open-plan breakfast kitchen, creating a sociable and fluid living area. The kitchen itself is a standout feature of the home, designed with both beauty and functionality in mind. Fitted with bespoke solid oak cabinetry by Glenwood, topped with granite work surfaces and equipped with a full range of integrated appliances, it caters effortlessly to everyday cooking and entertaining alike. A conservatory-style extension, with vaulted ceiling and Velux windows, brings in abundant natural light and offers garden views, while a door opens directly onto the rear terrace—enhancing the connection between indoor and outdoor living.

Beneath the ground floor, a generous cellar provides excellent storage or potential for use as a wine room or hobby space. The upper levels of the home are equally well-considered. On the first floor, there are three well-proportioned bedrooms, including a lovely principal bedroom that retains original stone features and enjoys a peaceful aspect. A stylish and contemporary shower room and a separate family bathroom, both fitted to a high standard and benefiting from underfloor heating, provide comfort and convenience for family life.

A second staircase rises to the top floor, where two further spacious double bedrooms are found, each full of character and natural light. One of these connects to a dressing room, while an additional room on this level offers ideal space for a home office, study, or creative retreat—making the upper floor perfect for teenagers, guests, or those seeking quiet separation for work or hobbies.

The south-facing rear garden is another highlight, offering a private and beautifully designed outdoor space. With a combination of lawn, raised beds, mature planting, and multiple seating areas including a large paved terrace and timber decking, the garden invites relaxation and outdoor entertaining in equal measure. A fully fitted outdoor kitchen—complete with sink, power, lighting, and dishwasher—adds a luxurious touch for al fresco dining. The detached garden room extends the living space further and currently houses a utility area, a washroom, and a sauna. This versatile space could easily be adapted to suit a wide range of uses, from a home gym or wellness studio to additional guest accommodation.

The property is well-equipped for modern living with oil-fired central heating, double glazing throughout, a serviced alarm system, and mains connections for electricity, water, and drainage. A Calor gas supply is connected to the kitchen hob, providing efficient and responsive cooking options.

Located in one of South Yorkshire's most attractive villages, Park View Cottage offers a rare combination of historic charm, generous proportions, and contemporary comfort. Micklebring is a peaceful rural setting with easy access to the amenities of nearby Wickersley and excellent road links via the M1 and M18 to Sheffield, Doncaster, and Rotherham. With its outstanding layout, private setting, and beautiful interiors, this is a home that truly must be seen to be appreciated—a perfect blend of past and present, and an exceptional opportunity for those seeking something special.
