

With Redhill high street at the end of the road, this apartment really is in a prime location! Redhill has a selection of shops, cafes and the station has great links into the bright lights of the city, Gatwick and Brighton. Ideal for young busy professionals who need to commute regularly and for those of you who enjoy a great evening out, Reigate is just a short cab ride away and have some great pub gardens that you can enjoy during the warmer summer nights.

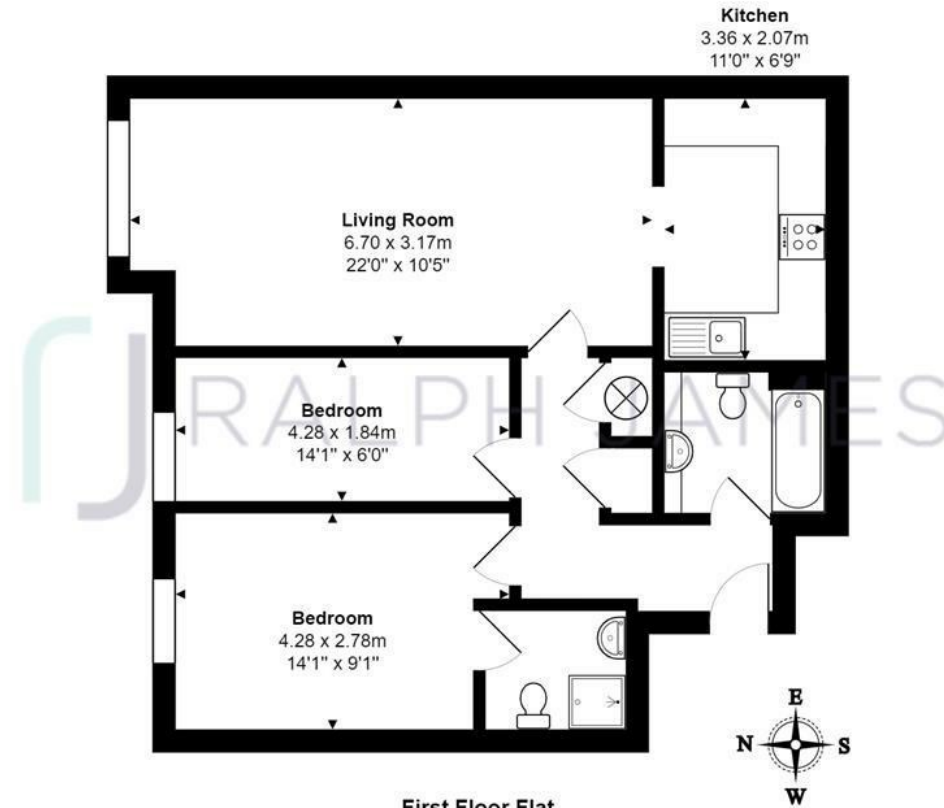

The open plan kitchen/dining/living room offers enough space for a large company sofa set with room to spare for a dining table. Although open plan, the archway leading into the kitchen helps to create a feeling of separation, giving you the chance to cook up some delicious creations (make a mess) and still be involved in the chit chat whilst your guests catch up around the table.

The two double bedrooms are light and airy with the large windows letting natural light flood in, both have plenty of room to add in some large wardrobes and the neutral décor will allow you to add in some personal touches and really make it feel like home. The family bathroom has a large bath tub that you can enjoy relaxing in after a long hard day, and you've also the added bonus of the master ensuite so you can have your own space.
