

Outwood Lane, Redhill

Price Range £1,250,000 to £1,250,000

This has been our family home for over 40 years - according to historical records the house was once a taphouse serving beer and food to the labourers when they built the railway. Light encircles the house from the break of dawn and we have enjoyed many magnificent sunsets. There is always somewhere sunny to sit and enjoy the views.

Welcome to Poundhill Cottage, a beautiful historic home dating back to 1690, brimming with character and charm. Nestled in an elevated, rural position, this enchanting property offers fabulous 360° views from most rooms over the rolling countryside.

With over 2500 sq ft of accommodation, there is potential for new owners to update and breathe new life into the property. The good-sized kitchen/dining room, sitting room, conservatory, and utility room with plenty of storage make this home perfect for family living. The living room, steeped in history, with its generous walk-in fireplace and large oak beams, is the real hub of the home, ideal for cosy evenings after exploring the local countryside and popular country pubs nearby. Upstairs, there are three large bedrooms, a dressing room, WC, and bathroom. The principal bedroom with ensuite offers magnificent views of the rolling hills beyond. A separate annex with an ensuite bathroom can be used as a guest suite, home office, or gym.

Sit on a 1.5-acre plot, the beautiful English gardens are delightful and completely private. The gardens are the perfect escape, featuring beautifully striped lawns, well-stocked beds, a flowy meadow, and beautiful tree-lined borders. The property offers garaging (with the potential to further extend the accommodation) and ample parking down the graveled driveway.

This property offers tranquility and seclusion yet is less than 5 miles from Redhill with a fast train service to London and Gatwick. It is 1.5 miles from Bletchingley Village with pubs, local shops, and a golf course, and is within easy access of good schools for all ages and the M25 at junction 6 in Godstone.
