Nestled in the heart of this sought-after village, Bramdean Cottage is a substantial period home brimming with charm and character. Ideally positioned within easy reach of Winchester and Alresford, this enchanting residence offers an abundance of versatile living space, making it a perfect family retreat. Surrounded by the rolling countryside of the South Downs National Park, it provides the ideal setting for scenic country walks, while the much-loved village pub, The Fox, is just a short stroll away.

Steeped in history, Bramdean Cottage holds a fascinating past, having played a role in the Battle of Cheriton during the Civil War. The property is approached through an elegant five-bar gate, leading to a sweeping circular driveway that sets the tone for the grandeur within.

Step inside, and you are welcomed by a charming entrance hall with original brick flooring, evoking a sense of timeless appeal. To the right, a characterful study leads into a cosy family room with warm wooden flooring, seamlessly connecting to a light-filled conservatory—perfect for enjoying the garden views year-round. A door off the hall opens to a traditional cellar, while a staircase leads to the upper floors.

The beautifully proportioned sitting room is a haven of comfort, featuring an inviting open fire and a striking bay window that floods the space with natural light. The heart of the home, the bespoke kitchen, is a delightful blend of style and practicality, with elegant Italian marble worktops, a comprehensive range of units and drawers, and high-quality integrated appliances. Flowing effortlessly into an adjoining space with a breakfast bar and additional storage, it is ideal for modern family living. Beyond the kitchen, the charming dining room provides a wonderful setting for entertaining, with direct access to the garden, while a well-equipped utility room offers added convenience.

Upstairs, the first floor boasts four generously sized double bedrooms, each offering a peaceful retreat with charming views of the surrounding village and gardens. Two well-appointed bath and shower rooms provide comfort and convenience, thoughtfully designed to complement the character of the home.

The property is set back from the road behind a neatly trimmed hedge, ensuring both privacy and curb appeal. A spacious driveway leads to a handsome double timber garage, offering ample parking and storage. To the side of the house, a charming pathway guides you to the beautifully maintained rear garden—a true sanctuary of greenery.

At the rear, a large stone terrace extends from the house, creating a perfect space for outdoor entertaining or relaxing with a morning coffee. Steps lead up to the expansive lawned garden, which is enclosed by a characterful brick wall and fencing, providing a secure and private outdoor haven. Whether enjoying al fresco dining, gardening, or simply unwinding in the fresh countryside air, this delightful outdoor space offers something for everyone.
