SUMMARY

Welcome to The Whitehouse, a charming double-fronted period house located in the heart of St Columb Road, a popular mid-country village in Cornwall. Nestled just seven miles from the bustling coastal town of Newquay, this delightful village offers a fantastic community atmosphere, merging seamlessly with the neighbouring villages of Fraddon and Indian Queens. Here, you'll find a great range of daily amenities, including a doctors' surgery, school, parks, pubs, takeaways, and the renowned Kingsley Village business park, home to various national retailers including a Marks & Spencer's superstore.

The Whitehouse is a fully detached and extended family home, featuring large gardens and spacious accommodation that includes four bedrooms and two reception rooms. This home has been well-loved for many years by the current vendors and is now ready for new owners to make it their own. The property offers a unique opportunity to update and personalise to your own taste and style.

Upon entering, a useful porch leads into the first of two front aspect reception rooms, used as the main living room. Separately, the second reception room provides another well-proportioned family space, perfect for dining. The rear kitchen has been extended and is generously sized, featuring a range of tidy wood grain units with plenty of room for appliances. Additionally, there is access to a small sunroom and an outer hall with rear access, whilst also leading to a combined ground floor WC and utility room for added practicality.

On the first floor, there are four decent-sized bedrooms and a main family bathroom. The rear-facing bedrooms boast stunning, far-reaching country views, and the bathroom features a modern, tiled white bath suite with a shower over the shaped bath. Throughout the property, it is evident that this has been a cherished home, though it requires general updating. However, it is perfectly liveable, allowing buyers to slowly work through renovations.

The property benefits from UPVC double glazing and electric night storage heating. Outside, a large driveway extends down the side of the property with a secure five-bar gate leading to a rear detached garage that incorporates an inspection pit for budding car enthusiasts and features an electric action door. The rear gardens are a lovely feature, thanks to their great size and wonderful open outlook over fields and countryside. The lush, mature gardens include beds, borders, lawn, and patio, providing a great space for children to safely play and adults to relax.

The Whitehouse is a superb family home in a vibrant village community, offering a great place to call home and an excellent base to explore or commute from.
