An Exceptional Residence in a Historic Victorian Coaching Inn Conversion

This remarkable home is one of just seven exclusive properties created from the historic Victorian Coaching Inn once known as The Mucky Duck. Nestled on the edge of the picturesque village of Lydford—just moments from the breathtaking Lydford Gorge and within easy reach of Dartmoor National Park—this residence masterfully blends period charm with contemporary luxury.

Converted in 2004 by specialist developers, the building was sympathetically transformed to offer high-quality finishes, generous living spaces, and a truly individual character. The result is a distinctive and beautifully appointed home, perfectly suited to modern living while retaining its heritage appeal.

With central heating throughout, a blend of original character features and modern conveniences, and a location within an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, this exceptional property offers a rare opportunity to enjoy the very best of countryside living in an elegant and historic setting.

Accommodation

At the heart of the home lies a well-appointed kitchen, featuring traditional slate flooring, modern Shaker-style cabinetry, and roll-edge worktops. Integrated appliances include an electric double oven, halogen hob with extractor, stainless steel one-and-a-half sink with mixer tap, and provisions for a dishwasher, fridge, freezer, washing machine, and tumble dryer—ensuring both style and practicality.

The spacious open-plan lounge and dining area is enhanced by a solid wood floor, exposed beams, and a striking exposed stone fireplace with a wood-burning stove, creating a cosy and inviting focal point—perfect for cooler evenings.

Upstairs, the home boasts three generously sized double bedrooms. Two benefit from ensuite bathrooms, offering a sense of privacy and comfort, while the third bedroom is conveniently served by a stylish Jack and Jill shower room. The thoughtful layout ensures each room is filled with natural light and a warm, welcoming ambiance.

Externally, the property features its own private garden, ideal for al fresco dining and relaxation, as well as access to beautifully maintained communal gardens. Additional benefits include private parking, a garage, and ample storage.
