INTRODUCTION

A fine detached house in the centre of North Ferriby which has great character, an array of period features and the luxuries of modern living. Cranford is a superb home of Edwardian origins which style exhibits many attractive features of the "arts and craft" movement. It stands proudly on a private plot of half an acre on the highly desirable and leafy street scene of Station Road in the centre of the village. This is a conservation area and is characterised by many unique properties from lovely cottages, to homes of distinction. The property itself affords plenty of space for a growing family with around 4,500sq.ft. of accommodation across three floors. You can't fail to be impressed by the superb entrance reception complete with fireplace, which provides access to two elegant reception rooms, butlers pantry, cloak room and W.C.. The modern open plan kitchen/dining/living area measures approximately 30ft in length with light flooding in from three elevations together with doors leading out to the paved terrace. Upon the first floor, the stunning landing provides a view towards the church spire. There are 5 bedrooms including a grand principal suite with "walk in" robe and a luxurious en-suite bath/shower room. The upper floor has a great deal of potential and would be ideal as a large games room, office room and store room. Outside mature borders provide much seclusion from Station Road and a sweeping driveway allows excellent parking and access to the tandem length garage. Lawns extend to front, side and particularly the rear of the property, which are again, bounded by mature borders. An extensive paved terrace is an ideal place to relax or entertain upon. Properties of such significant appeal in prime locations are rarely available and viewing is strongly recommended.

LOCATION

North Ferriby lies approximately 8 miles to the west of Hull and offers a good range of local shops and amenities including a convenience store.
