This is Ouseburn.

"Lets move to Ouseburn; if Newcastle upon Tyne had a Shoreditch, this would be it. It's the north-east's pumping creative heart." - The Guardian

Once known as the cradle of industrial revolution, the Ouseburn Valley has a long and rich history. The river Ouseburn runs directly from the Tyne, through the Ouseburn Valley and continues into Jesmond Dene, a stunning public park gifted to the City of Newcastle by Lord Armstrong in 1883. Recent regeneration has transformed Ouseburn to become Newcastle's cultural quarter and one of the most vibrant creative communities in the Northeast.

Named 'The Ropes' after the site's former use as a rope factory, these townhouses overlook both the Ouseburn Valley and the River Tyne with unparalleled views. Just minutes walk from the hustle and bustle of Ouseburn, your new home is on the doorstep to an alternative music scene, flourishing creative networks and abundant artisan restaurant and bars.

The Ouseburn has something for everyone! If you're interested in local heritage and community initiatives then the Ouseburn Trust and community centre could be of interest, if horticulture is your thing volunteer at Stepney Bank Stables or the Ouseburn Farm or if you're looking for something more creative a visit to Seven Stories, Star and Shadow Cinema or Northern Print could be right up your street.
