Originally built on the historic footprint of the Wells House School Gym - once attended by renowned chef Rick Stein - this beautifully presented residence seamlessly blends heritage with contemporary luxury. For lovers of the outdoors, the setting is unmatched: simply cross the road to access the Malvern Hills, a network of trails stretching 15km from British Camp to Worcestershire Beacon, all on your doorstep.

Over the past seven years, the home has been thoughtfully upgraded with new bathrooms, a stylish kitchen and utility room, and ultra-fast broadband - making it as functional as it is beautiful.

Life here is wonderfully peaceful, with little more than the sound of birdsong or the occasional passing horse. Wildlife is a daily joy, from garden birds and owls to deer and foxes that visit the grounds. The balcony is a haven for container gardening and birdwatching, while a large communal garden offers a secure and scenic space for children or even remote-controlled model adventures. The extensive driveway allows for ample guest parking, making entertaining effortless - whether it's a family Christmas with multiple trees and twinkling lights or a weekend celebration for a dozen guests.
