LOCATION

Thatcher Avenue is set away from Torquay town on the isthmus of Ilsham in one of Torquay's most prestigious residential locations, sought after for its peaceful ambience and stunning views.

Close by is the blue flag beach at Meadfoot which is nestled below an array of spectacular cliffs and provided a peaceful spot for beachcombing.

Access to the South West Coastal Path allows the energetic to stretch their legs whilst exploring the spectacular scenery, hidden coves and enjoy every changing bay views. The wonderful lifestyle opportunities are supported by the nearby village style community at Wellswood with church, school, pub, restaurants, cafes and shops.

RESORT

Torquay is synonymous with the English Riviera on Devon's south coast and has been a popular destination for tourism since the Victorian era. The nostalgic elements of this bygone age are well preserved and the famous pier and classic architecture now blends seamlessly with new contemporary architecture.

Within the bay are many beaches and coves to explore, some are peaceful havens for relaxing and others offer water sports, fishing and boat trips. The horseshoe shaped bay is a natural safe haven for visiting cruise liners and a paradise for yachtsmen and boating enthusiasts, with craft from local sailing clubs regularly seen competing in the bay with national and international races throughout the year.

COMMUNICATIONS

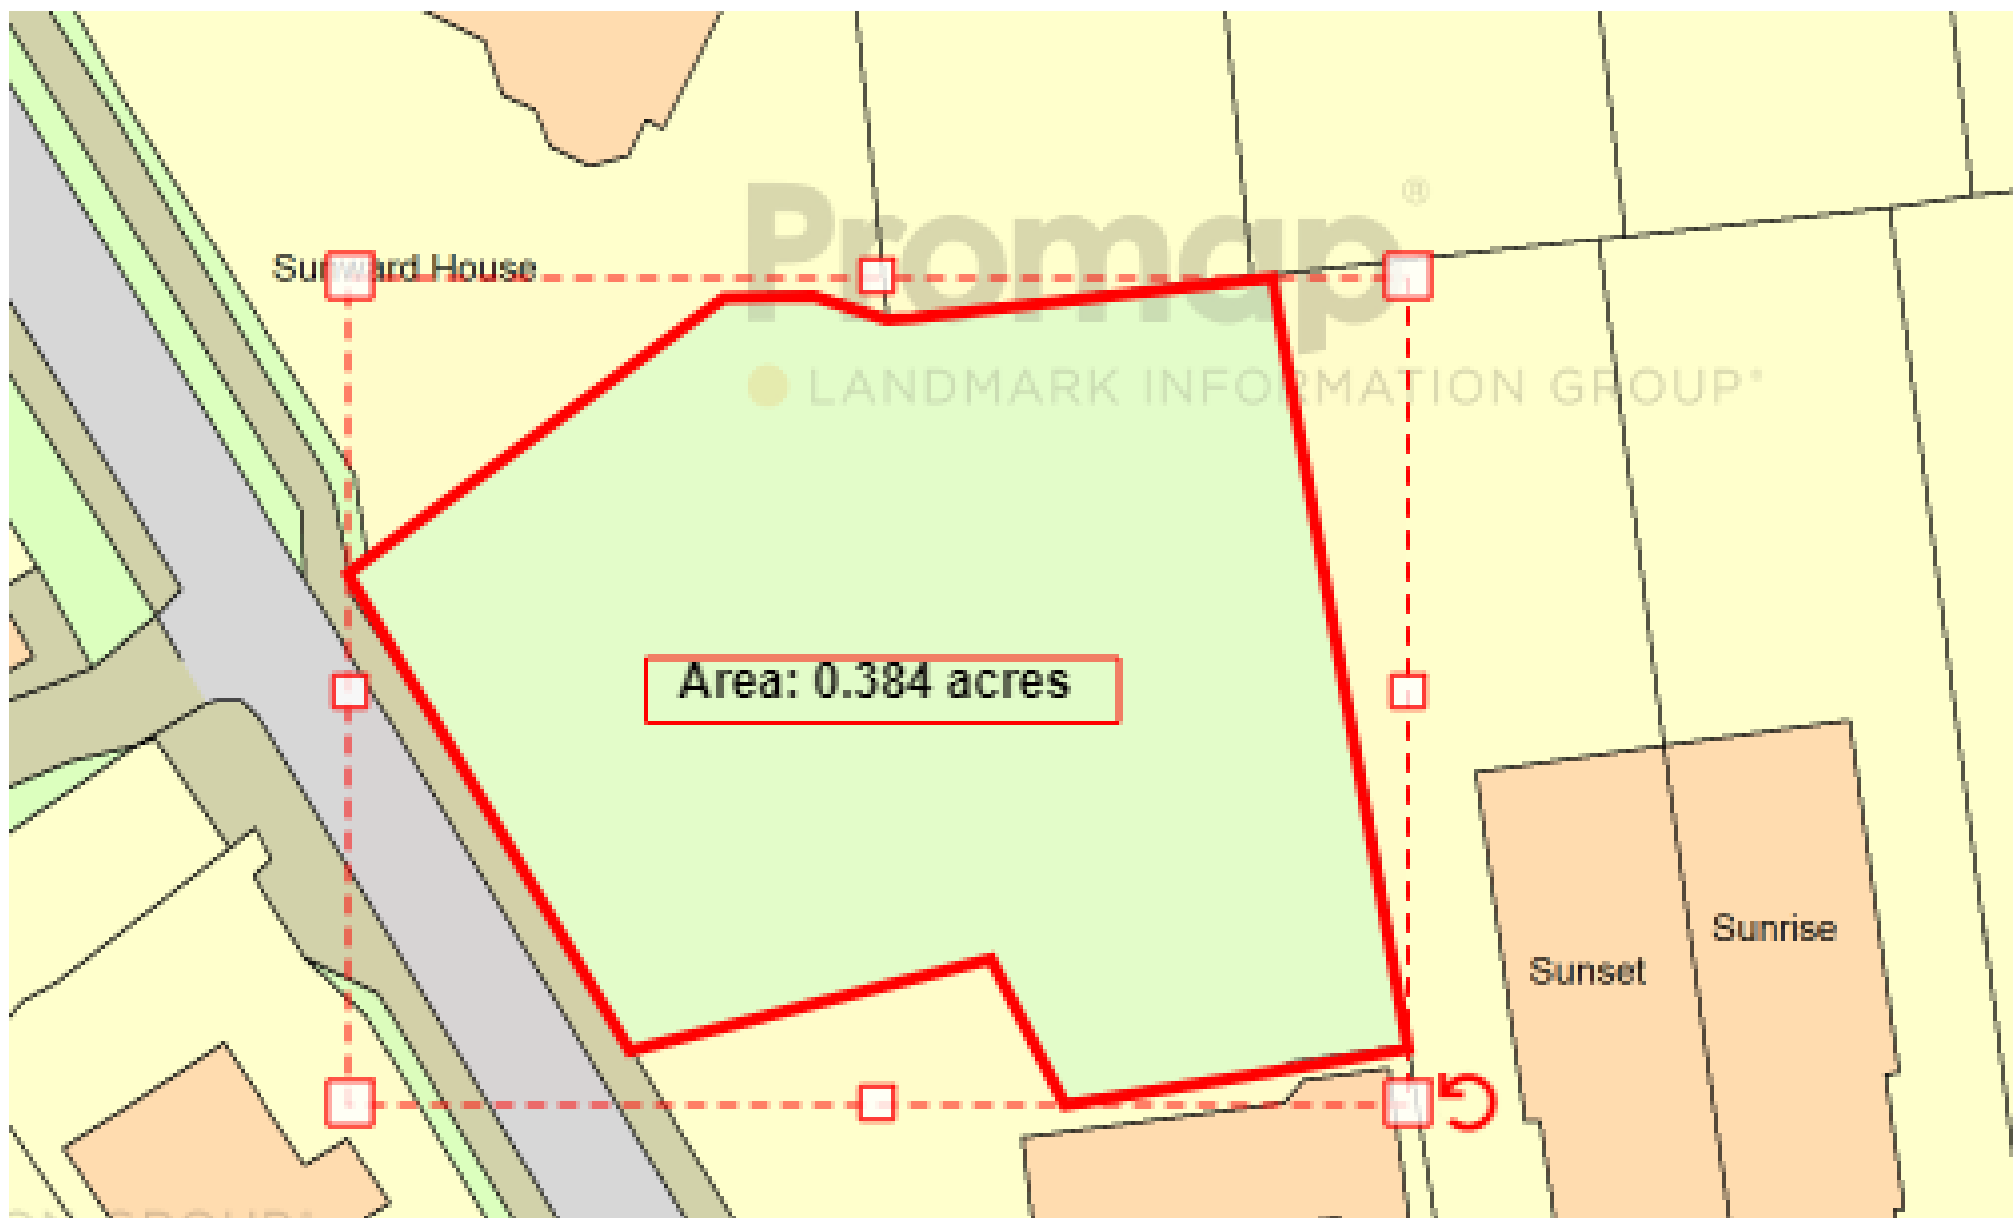

Excellent communication links include local bus services and inter-city railway stations at both Torquay and Newton Abbot. The South Devon Highway gives good access to the vibrant cities of Exeter and Plymouth. The international airport at Exeter provides a gateway to destinations further afield.
