INFORMATION

Found on a tranquil village lane with sweeping views over the surrounding countryside, is this Swedish black timber-framed three-bedroom house.

Beautifully light, this charming home offers a natural tone throughout, paying homage to its original Scandinavian roots.

Whitewashed timber panels, original timber floorings and exposed brickwork are all sensitive characteristics that allow for this home to feel modern, yet reminiscent of its Cotswolds location.

The home is fitted with an air source heat pump, providing an efficient and cost effective heating system. There is off street parking for multiple cars, side access via the utility room and a well maintained South facing rear garden.

All three bedrooms have idyllic views of the surrounding area, including a quaint steam train line that services the local community.
