

An aerial rendering of a large, modern industrial building with a grey metal roof and white exterior. The building is divided into several bays, each with a large bay door. The roof is equipped with numerous solar panels. A parking lot in front of the building contains several cars and a truck. The building is surrounded by green grass and trees with autumn foliage. A red banner with the 'gth' logo is in the top left corner. The text 'West Park' is visible on the side of the building.
