

Wesley Place

For buyers looking for a country retreat that is a little bit different, this former Wesleyan Chapel with no chain in the hamlet of Leverton Outgate could be absolutely perfect. Surrounded by field views along a quiet country lane, the property is of walking distance of miles of coastal walks along the sea bank. The seller cannot stress enough how special this unique property and tranquil location has been to her family for several years.

Filled with character, there are two wood-burners in the property, but since an energy efficient pellet fed boiler was fitted the seller tells me that they are now lit more for ambiance than for heat. Wooden floors run throughout and the high ceilings and stained glass windows also provide the property with an abundance of daylight. The large main room has an open-plan living design and gives a great feeling of space that I think will suit buyers with both traditional and more contemporary tastes. The former school house is a later addition to the original chapel which dates back to 1866. The school house is thought to have been added in 1900 but has similar features and provides an additional reception room in addition to a small study, separate utility room and a sun-room overlooking the garden. It is worth pointing out that as the bathrooms and three double bedrooms have been created with the use of stud walls, the overall layout could potentially be adapted without costly major structural work if necessary.

Externally there is a long driveway to the side of the property and a beautiful cottage style garden to the rear which is so peaceful and overlooks a neighbouring paddock. It is well stocked with an abundance of flowers, shrubs and herbs with a greenhouse, shed and garden studio.

Wesley Place is a spacious, rural property with a lovely relaxed feel. As you can see from the pictures, it is anything but a standard property and as such viewings are welcomed from buyers that will appreciate all that is different about it and will love and embrace its unique charm.

* Please note the paddock to the rear is not a part of this property and to the seller's knowledge is not available to purchase / rent.
