

For viewers in need of an annex or larger than-usual accommodation for a blended or multi-generational family, this substantial character property will take some beating. Indeed, even the approach over the attractive and sheltered driveway alludes to something special - and once you are through the gates, that first impression does not disappoint, benefitting as it does from a wonderfully secluded plot and beautiful surrounding gardens. It's also situated along a bypassed village lane within walking distance of a wide range of amenities including shops, schools and a GP surgery.

Previous owners have placed significant importance on energy efficiency which includes having the property re-roofed, fitted with 17 colour-matched solar panels, a 3.5kw battery and an air-source heat pump together with updated windows and wall-insulation to name but a few within the last 7 years. Prioritising these elements is of course understandable given the size of the accommodation on offer, which includes six bedrooms and four reception rooms, with an integral first-floor flat ideal for buyers working from home or with older children wanting their own space. The accommodation itself has also been thoroughly updated and highlights include a mix of oak, Karndean and sandstone flooring, Murdoch Troon units in the kitchen and laundry room, new radiators and a wood-burning stove.

As comprehensive as the renovation of the main house has been, the investment in the development of one of several existing outbuildings into a lovely self-contained annex could be considered an even greater project - and one which complements the main property perfectly. The annex includes a generous en-suite double bedroom and a spacious dining lounge with wood-burning stove, together with a utility and a kitchen with French doors leading to its own private garden.

*Now being marketed for a corporate client, the property is 'sold as seen' with no onward chain. Following a considerable reduction from the previously advertised price, the property represents superb value for money in the agent's opinion.

Tenure: Freehold. Private Drainage. EPC 'B' 87. Council Tax 'E'

Outside – The extensive grounds of the Old Farmhouse are well-presented and enjoy considerable seclusion. The property is approached through arrow-tip double gates with matching railings and an intercom. The gates open to a picturesque sweeping driveway flanked by the mature trees, plants and shrubs of the generous front garden. The driveway extends up to a parking bay adjacent to the side entrance and detached annex. This area also has a brick and pantile outbuilding split into a store and a workspace with power, lighting, cupboards and a sink/drainers.

A farmhouse-style gate leads from the parking area to a lawned paddock garden on the right of the plot, interspersed with established trees. This area also benefits from a substantial pond, greenhouse and borders a neighbouring field to the side. There are two further garden areas of note, one for the detached annex and the rear garden of the main property. The latter is a generous size and principally laid to lawn with decking and sheltered seating area ideal for alfresco dining. To the left of this garden lies the walled garden of the annex which enjoys plenty of privacy and has a log store, a 2nd outside tap and a patio area which overlooks a pond and attractive trees, plants and shrubs. The Old Farmhouse is also well served with exterior lighting.
