Property Introduction

Situated in a quiet backwater on the Truro side of Redruth, this terraced property offers well proportioned accommodation ideal for family occupation.

Benefiting from three bedrooms with the principal bedroom having an en-suite, stairs lead up to an attic room currently used as an additional bedroom. On the ground floor the lounge/dining room has a feature fireplace with a recessed multi-fuel stove, there is a sun room which is ideal for those looking to work from home and the kitchen has been remodelled with a range of contemporary style units. The property features gas fired central heating and is double glazed. The cottage is set back from the pavement by a low maintenance garden whilst to the rear the garden is enclosed, features an extensive deck which is ideal for alfresco dining and steps lead down to the remainder of the garden which is mainly lawned.

Viewing our interactive virtual tour is strongly recommended prior to arranging a closer inspection.

Location

The property is conveniently located on the north side of the town and having good access to both Redruth and the A30. Cornwall's main town and administrative shopping centre, Truro, is nine miles distant. Redruth offers mainline rail links to London and the north of the country, there are banks, schooling and a mix of local and national shopping outlets.

Redruth also houses Kresen Kernow which is the worldwide centre for those researching Cornwall's history and their heritage. Falmouth the university town for Cornwall is on the south coast and is within eleven miles and Portreath, which is noted for its sandy beach and active harbour on the north coast, is only five miles distant.
