Property Introduction

Well presented throughout, the main house benefits from a separate lounge and dining room, there is a superb kitchen/breakfast room with a vaulted ceiling and also a useful large utility/WC. The first floor bathroom has been remodelled and the principal bedroom benefits from an en-suite. It should be noted that the attached annexe offers well proportioned accommodation and would be ideal for a dependent relative or to complement the established holiday letting units located to the rear of the property. The property is fully double glazed and benefits from LPG gas heating.

To the outside Carnkie Farmhouse enjoys an outlook towards Carn Brea. There is a generous lawn with driveway and parking to the front which gives access to the detached garage. The rear is enclosed, one will find a paved seating area ideal for outside entertaining and the holiday letting units have their own patio and outside space.

Whilst our interactive virtual tour will certainly whet your appetite for this property, arranging a closer inspection is strongly recommended to fully appreciate the quality of the accommodation on offer.

Location

Situated within the Unesco World Mining Heritage Site, Carnkie is a popular village on the outskirts of Redruth.

Within a short distance country walks will be found on the 'Great Flat Lode' mining trail, Carn Brea, which is a local landmark is also within walking distance and here there are panoramic views along Cornwall's north coast, a folly dedicated to a local mine owner and a fourteenth century former hunting lodge now used as a restaurant. Nearby at Piece is the Countryman Public House.

The major town of Redruth is within two miles and here there is a mix of local and national shopping outlets, locally well respected schooling is available for all ages and there is a mainline Railway Station with direct access to London and the north of the country. Redruth is also home to Kresen Kernow which is a mecca for those researching their Cornish roots and Cornish history.

The city of Truro and Falmouth, Cornwall's university town on the south coast, are both within commuting distance and access to the A30 trunk road is approximately two miles away.
