Property Introduction

This imaginative and spacious conversion of a former Methodist Chapel is situated on the Helston side of Pencoys and enjoys a rural outlook to both front and rear.

Offering versatile accommodation, the entrance doors lead to a porch and from here an oak arched door gives access to an amazing open plan living/dining room which enjoys a triple aspect with arched Mullion windows, a spiral stairs leads to the first floor principal bedroom and a central freestanding wood burning stove is a major feature in this room. There is the potential for four bedrooms with one of the bedrooms having an en-suite shower room, the kitchen features a bespoke range of units which incorporates original wood from the chapel and features organ stops as handles. Both bathrooms have a contemporary design and there is a utility room. Heating is provided by an oil fired boiler supplying radiators and the majority of the property is double glazed.

To the outside there is ample parking to the front and side whilst to the rear is a gravelled courtyard. A property that really requires a closer inspection to fully appreciate the accommodation on offer, why not arrange a viewing today!

Location

Conveniently located for major towns within the area, Redruth which benefits from schooling for senior children also has a mainline railway station with direct access to London and the north of the country.

Within seven miles is the ancient stannary town of Helston famed for its annual 'Furry' dance, Truro the shopping and commercial centre for Cornwall is within ten miles and Falmouth on the south coast, which is Cornwall's university town, is some thirteen miles distant. Schooling for younger children will be found within the village of Four Lanes which is three quarters of a mile away and there is also a choice of public houses together with a Post Office. Portreath on the north coast is a seven mile drive.
