DESCRIPTION

This individual detached country house was built, we understand, around 1989/1990 and our clients are only the property's second owners. The house itself is characterful and comfortable, with versatile accommodation arranged over several levels, which benefits from excellent natural light and enjoys a picturesque outlook on all sides, including the spectacular distant views.

Externally, the house sits within a south-facing plot that amounts to 3.4 acres in all, comprising some beautifully kept formal lawn and natural woodland gardens plus two paddocks amounting to 1.6 acres, no doubt making the house a magnet for wildlife and offering strong potential for those looking to establish a smallholding-type lifestyle. Open moorland is available from the doorstep, which should appeal strongly to keen horse-riders and those with an outdoor-oriented lifestyle. Finally, the house is served by valuable outbuildings in the form of garaging and workshop space, adding to its breadth of appeal.

ACCOMMODATION

The accommodation is split over several levels providing an interesting design and offering a good degree of flexibility. On the ground floor are: a mosaic-tiled porch and central hallway; a well-appointed kitchen/breakfast room; a separate utility; WC, and; a dedicated dining room with patio doors out to a substantial timber decking, and; an adjoining reading room. The kitchen itself is equipped with an excellent range of cupboards and cabinets with quartz worktops incorporating a ceramic sink and a Fohen boiling water tap. Integrated appliances include a Siemens fridge-freezer and AEG dishwasher, plus a Stoves range cooker which has six dual induction and halogen ring burners, a hotplate, double oven, grill and warming drawer. There are stairs from the reading room or the entrance hallway to an upper ground floor which contains the principal, triple-aspect sitting room.

On the first floor are two double bedrooms, including the master suite comprising a dual-aspect bedroom with a balcony terrace, triple fitted wardrobes, dressing area and en-suite bathroom complete with a P-shape jacuzzi bath with shower over. Stairs rise again up to the second floor where there is a standalone shower room and a mezzanine study room.

Two further bedrooms can be found on the lower ground floor, both with fitted wardrobe space, together with a further shower room.

OUTSIDE

The house is approached through electric gates over a long, sweeping carriage driveway, flanked on either side by woodland gardens. To the side of the drive is a substantial double garage with remote-controlled doors. The house's principal garden is south-facing, contains a timber shed and is positioned to enjoy the magnificent views across West Devon to East Cornwall and even Plymouth Sound. The drive continues past the house to a second detached outbuilding comprising a garage, workshop and machinery storage. This area also features a sizable chicken coop and a small orchard with pear, apple and cherry trees. Directly below the formal garden is a sizable paddock of approx. 1.6 acres which is fenced and enclosed, and served by a timber field shelter ideal for keeping a horse, ponies or other domestic livestock.
