SITUATION

This appealing property benefits from a location which is exceptionally rare in type, combining superb peace and privacy with incredible convenience. The house is situated at the head of a long driveway, in a countryside setting on the very edge of Tavistock, surrounded by its own land. However, it is also within only 750 yards (on foot) of shops and supermarkets, and less than a kilometre from a fuel station. Additionally, for those looking to enjoy the outdoors, West Down Common and Longham Wood (known as Doublewaters, where the rivers Tavy and Walkham meet) are around 1.5 miles away to the south and provide excellent opportunities for walking, exploring and direct out-riding.

Tavistock is a thriving market town in West Devon, rich in history and tradition dating back to the 10th century. Today, the town offers a superb range of shopping, recreational and educational facilities, whilst the largely 19th-century town centre is focused around the Pannier Market and Bedford Square, in which regular farmer's markets are held. Plymouth is 15 miles to the south and the city of Exeter lies 40 miles to the northeast, providing air, rail and motorway connections to London and the rest of the UK.

DESCRIPTION

This is an exceptionally rare opportunity to acquire a well-rounded and versatile equestrian holding on the very edge of Tavistock. A cherished home to our clients for over 19 years, the property is comprised of a well-proportioned and adaptable four/five-bedroom farmhouse with beautiful large gardens, together with a range of outbuildings and facilities including high-quality stabling, sand school, tennis court and pasture fields, extending to 4.47 acres in all. The property is surrounded by its own gardens and grounds, providing a lush and verdant outlook on all sides and making the property a magnet for local wildlife, including red deer and numerous species of birds. Of particular note is the strong equestrian interest provided through the property's paddocks, stabling and sand school, and the out-riding which is available both at West Down - and therefore directly from the doorstep - and within 2 miles at Whitchurch Down, leading on to the full expanse of Dartmoor National Park beyond. A further 7.42 acres, comprising two eastern and two western fields, are available by separate negotiation, either as a whole or individually.

HOUSE AND GARDENS

The house is full of character (although not listed) and is naturally well-lit, whilst many of the rear (west)-facing rooms, including the sitting room, dining room, kitchen, conservatory and several of the bedrooms, enjoy a wonderful view of the gardens and surrounding land. The farmhouse itself is believed to date to the 1880's and was originally two miners' cottages which have subsequently been amalgamated and extended to form the well-proportioned home that exists today.

A pitched storm porch provides access, with the ground floor accommodation briefly comprising: a slate-tiled reception hallway/snug with a sizable log-burning stove set into a stone fireplace; a dual-aspect sitting room centered around an attractive cast iron fireplace housing a log-burning stove; a dual-aspect dining room with a third log-burning stove within a stone fireplace; a farmhouse kitchen, opening into a hardwood conservatory which in turn leads out to the garden; a dedicated home office; a utility, and; a rear porch and cloakroom. The kitchen is comprised of an excellent range of solid timber cupboards and cabinets with granite worktops over, with integrated appliances to include a fridge/freezer, dishwasher, and double Belfast sink. There is also a programmable electric Aga with two hotplates and four ovens.

On the first floor are three extremely good-sized double bedrooms, all with generous bath or shower room en-suite facilities, including the master suite which is complete with a dressing room that could also serve as a fifth bedroom. The family bathroom is fitted with both a rolltop bath and a large walk-in shower enclosure. Stairs rise again to a converted second-floor loft room currently serving as a further double bedroom and home office space with striking exposed trusses.

The house's wonderful gardens extend to well over half an acre, and wrap around the property on three sides but are primarily south and west-facing, enjoying a superb outlook across the neighbouring fields. The gardens comprise a mix of natural lawns with colourful beds and borders, interspersed with, and framed by, a wealth of mature specimen trees and shrubs, and several fruit trees including two established apples and two pears. Finally, adjacent to the principal garden is an all-weather, hard-surface tennis court enclosed by high mesh fencing.

LAND AND OUTBUILDINGS

The house is approached over a long, private driveway which splits off to provide separate access into the yard, arranged around which are a selection of outbuildings including a substantial stable barn providing extremely well-packaged, high-quality equestrian accommodation, covered hay/fodder stores, a double garage, a workshop and machinery sheds.

The steel-framed stable barn is divided internally into three rubber-matter loose boxes and a tack room, with each box having access to a sizeable covered and enclosed veranda which can be gated off to provide individual undercover turnout pens. The building has power, lighting and external water connections. Across the drive from the yard is a 40x20ft sand school with land drains, enclosed by post and rail fencing. Outriding can be found at West Down, 1.5 miles to the south along a country lane.

The property is offered with two fields (0.91 and 1.25 acres) which lie to the north of the house and directly adjacent to the stable block. Two further lots are also available by separate negotiation, comprising two eastern fields adjacent to the sand school (totalling 1.708 acres), and two large fields to the west (2.63 and 2.71 acres) running away to, and meeting the river Tavy in a small area of scrubland. In total, the site amounts to 11.894 acres as a whole.
