Forming a significant portion of an original Alderley Villa, this remarkable residence occupies the first and second floors of a distinguished period building, showcasing timeless elegance and masterful craftsmanship. Positioned on an elevated plot the property commands a striking presence, surrounded by mature greenery and enjoying picturesque views of the countryside beyond.

From the moment you arrive, the property captivates with its impressive approach, accessed via a sweeping driveway framed by imposing stone gate pillars. The substantial driveway leads to a large double carport and a detached double garage, ensuring ample parking. A private gate set within beautifully landscaped gardens provides a discreet entrance to the main residence. Upon entering, the grandeur of the home unfolds, beginning with the entrance hall where a graceful staircase leads to the first floor. The refined panelled walling enhances the sense of heritage, creating a space that is as welcoming as it is impressive.

The principal reception room is an exceptional showcase of period charm and sophisticated design. A magnificent bay window bathes the room in natural light, accentuating the sense of space and highlighting the exquisite craftsmanship of the custom-built, hand-made cabinetry. Rich timber panelling, a respectful nod to the building's origins, brings warmth and depth to the room, while the centrepiece is the original marble fire surround, complete with a slate hearth and a Stovax multi-fuel burner. This space embodies the home's perfect balance between historical character and modern comfort.

At the heart of the home is the family dining kitchen, designed to the highest specification with bespoke, hand-painted cabinetry. The center island provides a natural gathering space, while the room's generous proportions allow for a relaxed family area with sofas, making it an inviting and sociable setting. Natural light floods the space, enhancing the beauty of the original decorative corning and panelling, which add an unmistakable period elegance.
