IF YOU LIVED HERE...

There's room for not one but two vehicles on your private front driveway, right outside the door—ideal for unloading shopping or getting the kids inside with ease.

Step into the generous hallway, and you'll find the first of two sleek, well-designed bathrooms. This one features a walk-in shower, a vanity-mounted basin with mirrored storage, and a mix of wood-effect and white tiling that adds both warmth and texture.

The dual-aspect reception room is an impressive 24 feet long, with large windows at the rear and side filling the space with natural light and framing views of the garden. Dark Parquet Amtico flooring and soft downlighting create a refined yet comfortable setting for both relaxing and entertaining. A glazed door opens directly onto the garden, with an additional exit via the side return for added flexibility.

The kitchen connects seamlessly to the living space, combining function and style. Opposing runs of white cabinetry, integrated appliances, built-in wine racks, and gloss black granite countertops all contribute to a clean, modern aesthetic—well-suited for everyday cooking or hosting guests.

Outside, the southeast-facing garden offers a well-balanced mix of patio and lawn. A gravel path meanders through the grass, bordered by mature shrubs. There's a shed at the far end and stepped raised beds for further planting choices and the layout makes the most of the sunlight from early morning through late afternoon.

Upstairs are four bedrooms—two spacious doubles and two well-sized singles—all finished with the same dark wood flooring for a cohesive feel. Natural light pours into each room, adding to the overall sense of space.

The family bathroom stands out with bold geometric tiling across both floor and walls. A full-sized bath with a rain-head shower and concertina-style glass screen sits alongside an oval countertop basin, generous storage, and a classic white suite—all thoughtfully finished to blend personality with practicality.

WHAT ELSE?

- Despite its serenity, it's just a 10-minute walk to Redbridge Underground Station on the Central Line taking you to Stratford (11 mins), Liverpool Street (22 mins) and Oxford Street (32 mins)
- For drivers, the nearby A406 North Circular and M11 facilitate easy travel across and beyond the city.
- You'll find plenty of everyday essentials nearby, with local shops, supermarkets, and cafés dotted along Redbridge Lane East and Cranbrook Road. For even more choice, Ilford town centre is just a short trip away.

A WORD FROM THE EXPERT...

"Nestled in the heart of East London, Ilford is a vibrant tapestry of history, culture, and community spirit. Once a modest rural settlement, it has blossomed into a dynamic town that harmoniously blends its rich heritage with modern living. Ilford's streets are alive with diversity, offering a culinary journey that spans the globe—from traditional British fare to tantalizing South Asian delicacies. The town centre buzzes with energy, while serene spots like Valentines Park provide a peaceful retreat amidst the urban hustle. The area boasts excellent transport links, making it a convenient hub for commuters and explorers alike. Its strong sense of community is evident in local initiatives and events that bring residents together, fostering a welcoming atmosphere for newcomers and long-time locals."
