A seven bedroom Grade II listed character residence in the centre of Buckingham town centre which is priced to reflect some modernisation required in places whilst having the added benefit of a one bedroom annexe, an outstanding rear garden, and parking to the front for two cars.

Dating back to the 18th century and extended in the 19th century, 5 Castle Street was part of the Stowe House estate and it is rumoured to have been built by the Duke of Buckingham for an impoverished relative.

With large reception rooms and high ceilings, this home offers excellent potential throughout and must be seen to appreciate the space offered.

Ground Floor

Upon entering, the spacious hall has circular stairs rising to the first floor and access to a good sized cellar which provides good storage space, and has the original wine cellar with a door made from oak with the original lock and key.

The kitchen has a double oven, hob, two windows to the side and direct access to the breakfast room with wood flooring, space for a table to seat six guests, a door to the side and two sash windows to the front.

The dining room is the perfect setting for a formal dinner party. With space for a table to seat around sixteen guests, there is a feature fireplace and two sash windows to the front.

The sitting room is a beautiful room of character and has an open fire in a feature surround and French doors opening out to the rear, whilst completing the ground floor accommodation is the study which is ideal for anybody wanting to work from home.

Seller Insight

“Occupying a prime location in the heart of the historic town of Buckingham is this very handsome Grade II listed family home, which as well as a wealth of character and charm also boasts seven bedrooms, a separate one-bedroom annex and an exceptionally large and wonderfully mature garden.

“The house originally dates back to the 1780s and would have formed part of the Buckingham Estate – in fact, rumour has it that the Duke himself had it built, or at least enhanced, for an impoverished maiden aunt,” says the owner. “We were lucky enough to buy it back in 1981. We’d originally been living in a house down by the river, but the threat of rising water levels was making us increasingly nervous so we thought it would be a good idea to move further up the hill. As luck would have it this property had just come onto the market, and I’d say we fell for it as soon as we set eyes on it.”

“The original house was extended out at the back c1820 so it’s a very spacious family home and the layout is superb. It was ideal when the children were young because we had the space to all be together, but at the same time if you wanted a bit of peace and quiet there was always the opportunity to take yourself off to a quieter part of the house. One of our favourite rooms, and somewhere that is very nice to retreat to is the master bedroom. We believe it was originally intended to be a reception room so it’s absolutely huge, and it features floor-to-ceiling multi-paned windows which afford us a tremendous view out across the garden.”

“We’re fortunate to have one of the largest gardens in town, and when you look out from the house across the lawn to the trees beyond, you could be forgiven for thinking your somewhere in the countryside. It wasn’t in the best state when we moved here, but over time we’ve cleared it out, planted some fruit trees and created spaces that are ideal for relaxing, alfresco dining and entertaining, and there’s more than enough room for the odd game of football or cricket, which the grandchildren enjoy!”

“This has been a wonderful family home, and it has been so lovely to have had the space to welcome and entertain friends and relatives – our New Year’s Eve parties were probably some of the best! – and the location right in the centre of town has been so convenient. We can walk to all of the shops and restaurants... but at the end of the day we can come home, sit in our lovely garden and enjoy total peace and privacy.” *
