Reddings Park

The Reddings, Cheltenham, GL51 6UD

Asking Price £165,000

Hunters of Cheltenham are delighted to offer this, excellent value-for-money one-bedroom low maintenance freehold starter home, set within the ever popular 'Reddings Park' private residential development, just west of central Cheltenham.

This fine home will make an ideal landlord investment property due to the highly desirable location being close to the M5 Junction 11 and GCHQ. The property is also a perfect option for first time property buyers looking for a low maintenance, highly economical first home.

This lovely freehold property offers the following accommodation:

Entrance porch, living room, fitted kitchen, spiral staircase to the first floor with landing leading to all rooms including bedroom and bathroom. The exterior space is minimal, making this a very easy property to run for a new homeowner and one less thing to worry about for Landlords.

Conclusion:

This fabulous starter home will suit a variety of buyers. If we are being completely transparent, the property would benefit from being redecorated and new carpets fitted, but that really is about it. The windows are fully double glazed. Having just come out of a few years as a rental property, the electrics and gas appliances have all received regular checks and maintenance. This really is a smashing little house being offered for sale at a very reasonable asking price.

All viewings by appointment only.
