Overall Description

This most impressive detached property, formerly a part of Norrington End Farm, was built in 2007/8 using the materials from the period farmyard barn that it replaced and the combination of the original materials (flint, brick, oak beams, glass, clay tiles) definitely adds to its aesthetic appeal. The property was designed to echo the original barn in its overall look, but is the height of modernity in so many other ways, such as with its light and open-plan living spaces, stylish contemporary kitchen with brushed aluminium work-tops and its under-floor heating, run by a very efficient ground-source heat pump. The two main living rooms and the kitchen are open-plan and have really pleasant views across the gardens, with French doors leading directly onto the front patio from the sitting room. There is a separate utility room and downstairs cloakroom. Upstairs there are three bedrooms, as well as a bathroom and separate shower room. The gardens have been attractively landscaped with a wooden walkway leading to a timber raised area of decking over the pond. Further on is a good-sized area of lawn and small orchard, with plenty of space to grow vegetables or keep chickens, if living a more rural lifestyle is your thing. The carriage driveway has ample parking space for six or more cars. Sure, you can hear a bit of road noise in the garden, after all, you cross a bridge over the M1 to get to the property, but the house has very modern and efficient double-glazing and so we would advise you to come come and see for yourselves as the pros of this amazing property far out-weigh any potential cons. The property is being sold with no onward chain.

Location

The property sits in the small hamlet of Norrington End (AL3 7QN) surrounded by Hertfordshire countryside and around 200 yards west of the M1 Motorway down a lane that runs down the back of the Herts Show Ground. There are other good transport links in the local area with Harpenden railway station on the Thameslink line providing regular trains south via St Albans to London St Pancras and north to Luton airport. Redbourne is around a five minute drive away and has a very good selection of shops, supermarkets and other amenities with St Albans and Harpenden only ten minutes away by car. There are good schools in the local area including Redbourn Primary and St Lukes School (special needs) which are both accessible by footpath in around 20 minutes. The local countryside is perfect for keen cyclists or dog-walkers with plenty of footpaths and bridleways to explore. The site is also bordered by mature woodland on two sides making it feel more private.
