Gaywood Road, situated just on the edge of King's Lynn town centre is a most convenient residential location. On the doorstep within a short walking distance are a variety of amenities including local primary & secondary schools, College of West Anglia and supermarkets to name a few, with the town centre only being a short 10 minute walk away. King's Lynn is an historic market town located on the banks of the River Great Ouse in West Norfolk. Once part of the Hanseatic League, the town has a wealth of history and is well known for its two impressive market squares and Custom House. Transport links in and out of the area are good with the advantage of a mainline railway to London Kings Cross via Ely & Cambridge, regular bus services, many of which run via Gaywood Road, and A47 trunk road to Norwich & Peterborough. 97 Gaywood Road is a period residence, understood to date from the late Victorian era, which provides around 1,300 sq.ft. of internal accommodation. All rooms throughout are airy boasting tall ceilings with large bay windows providing the principal rooms with plenty of light. There are period features on display including corbel arch with scrolled support to the entrance hallway along with front storm porch with tiled threshold. Of particular benefit in this location, there is off road parking afforded by the detached garage accessed by the driftway to the rear. Offered to the market with No Onward Chain, the property is considered to have much potential and would make an ideal family home. The accommodation comprises;
