24 George Street, Ryde, PO33 2EW

£260,000

This hugely characterful detached house is as charming as it is individual. It is tucked away from the road and accessible to pedestrians only making for a more peaceful situation. It is conveniently positioned just a few hundred yards from our lovely sandy beaches of this coastal town of Ryde which renders it suitable for either a permanent residence or a holiday home/let. Local and mainland passenger travel options are equally close to hand as are the wealth of beachside cafes and bars found along the Esplanade. A few minutes in the other direction will see right in to the town centre where one of the Island's most extensive range of retail shops and facilities await. High ceilings, full height sliding sash windows and a classical stair balustrade of a smooth wooden handrail and squared spindles combine well to create a charm that only a period property is able to. The sizeable entrance hall gives way to all ground floor rooms including the cloakroom w.c. Both the lounge and the kitchen/diner enjoy access to the surprisingly large garden via its full height sashes. A utility room sits off the kitchen/diner offering handy space for appliances and storage. Upstairs and there are three comfortable bedrooms and two of which have a view of the sea just as a little reminder of this appealing coastal position. There is plenty of scope for the new owner to redecorate leaning the property towards the contemporary or the classic depending on personal tastes. George Street is a residents parking zone with permits available via the council and other free spaces for up to 2 hours parking.
