Overview

A detached 3 bed bungalow on the market for the first time since built in 1962. The village of Fremington is an exceptionally popular village set midway between Barnstaple and Bideford and offers excellent local amenities including both a Boots and Coop outlet, Post Office, Parish Church, Medical Centre, local popular pubs, Chinese restaurant/takeaway and a regular bus service. Nearby is Fremington Quay, popular with artists and photographers alike, which fronts the River Taw with its popular busy café, with outside seating area and access to the Tarka Trail a largely traffic free level cycle/walking trail that runs around the River Taw Estuary from Fremington Quay through to Instow and Bideford to the west and Barnstaple to the east.

Barnstaple town centre is within easy driving distance and offers an excellent range of amenities, shops, banks and leisure facilities. The improved North Devon Link Road is also convenient, and a bus service operates between Barnstaple and Bideford. A sprinter train service links Barnstaple with Exeter St. David's and Exeter Central.

The property sits on an excellent sized plot of about 0.250 acres with particularly good size front and rear gardens, with the rear garden being some 30 metres long enjoying a south facing aspect.

Internally the property does require some general modernisation but also provides scope to extend subject to any necessary planning consents, particularly the loft.
