To the rear of the property, an extensive sun terrace adjoins the garden room and kitchen, creating a seamless outdoor living space ideal for alfresco dining and entertaining. The outstanding mature grounds, spanning approximately 1.78 acres, are creatively divided into five distinct and fascinating sections. The first section is a large "no mow" area where the paths have been cut so that the grass grows freely, providing an ideal habitat for butterflies, bees etc. It features mature trees, including cherry, rowan, damson and pear and is dotted with specimen trees for stunning autumn colour. A wooden gate opens into a thoughtfully designed organic, no dig "edible garden," featuring a vibrant array of raised beds, a thriving fruit cage brimming with raspberries, blueberries, strawberries and currants as well as a separate composting area behind beech hedging. The next section is primarily dedicated to creating a peaceful retreat for relaxation, including a wildlife pond, orchard and a seating area that makes the most of the lush surroundings. Set in the corner, a large greenhouse and cold frame is nestled amongst the beech hedging that frames each garden room. Next is a parcel of land divided into three sections with gates, post-and-rail fencing, previously used as pasture for livestock and well equipped with water sources which could be easily returned to its previous purpose. Finally, a large wildflower meadow established using the seeds of the Yellow Rattle adjoining a mowed grassed area which has been used over the years for recreation taking full advantage of the views of the Wye Valley and beyond to the Sugar Loaf.
